COPENHAGEN RENAISSANCE MUSIC FESTIVAL 2012 is dedicated to late Medieval and early Renaissance Music from appr. 1200-1500. Read more about the theme on the website and in the festival paper!

THE FESTIVAL's aim is to introduce leading international musicians to the Danish audience; to connect local and international musicians; to provide meeting points between audiences, students and professional musicians; to generate knowledge and inspiration through conferences and masterclasses; to mediate new research on early music and its historical context; and to promote and stimulate the interest in early music in general.

COPENHAGEN RENAISSANCE MUSIC FESTIVAL was established in 2006 in connection with the Danish National Renaissance Year and has over the years evolved into Scandinavia's leading festival for early music, specialised in repertoire from the late medieval to the early baroque period.

NEXT YEARS FESTIVAL is planned for October 2013 and will be exclusively dedicated to music by Carlo Gesualdo da Venosa and his Napolitan contemporaries - in the 400 year commemoration of Gesualdo's death in 1613. The festival will host concerts, conferences, film screenings and workshops and will also present new recordings with Napolitan music.
